Estate Planning Tips for 2019

Complete Your Will in 2019!

The Will is the cornerstone of your plan for the inevitable. Yet seven out of eight people die without a Will. And 80% of those who do have a Will, have one that no longer carries out their intentions. Circumstances changed, but their Will does not reflect those changes.

Whatever reasons you may use to forfeit your right to plan the distribution of what you own (your estate) to your loved ones and favorite charities, the fact remains that it is wasteful!

What keeps us from making a Will?

1. Simple Procrastination - We think we have more time than we actually do!

2. (I have) Too Little Property - Actually, people with small or modest estates cannot afford to think this way. Smaller inheritances can be wasted away in court costs, probate expenses and attorney fees.

3. "It's Too Expensive" - A properly drawn Will, directing the distribution of what you accumulated during your lifetime, may be the best bargain of your lifetime.

4. I Don't Understand Making a Will - People will avoid taking the simple step of contacting an attorney because they feel unable to understand the process.

5. A Reluctance to Face Death. - We refuse to face the reality of death because we do not want it to happen.

Whatever plans you make now for the inevitable future will be greatly appreciated by those you leave behind.

Include the Ananda Janaka Foundation in your Will

One of the highest compliments you could give us is to remember the future of Ananda in your Will. This means that you are equating us with your family and close friends. You not only believe in what we are doing now, but you believe that we should continue doing this in the future, and you are supporting this belief with a bequest in your Will.
